

City Lights

A brilliant event for all of Philadelphia

Open to the public and brought to you by the National Convention of the American Institute of Architects, An American City: The Architecture of Information

Wednesday 5 May 1976

Philadelphia turns on

A sparkling night of light and sound

City Lights

We will turn you on by turning on the city

If everybody we've asked manages to get to their light switches at 10:30 on Wednesday evening, you'll be able to see all the buildings in Philadelphia glowing as you've never seen before

And from the tops of three, courtesy of Philadelphia '76 Inc, we will preview for you the Fourth of July, with fireworks and aerial artistry

Music

A special concert by The Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy

7:30 pm

The Academy of Music
Broad and Locust Streets

Tickets $5, $7, $10, $12, $15 available from The American Institute of Architects Philadelphia Chapter 117 South 17th Street 569-3186 and at the Academy box office

Dance

City Lights: A Ball

Trip the light fantastic and dance the night away

10:00 pm

Academy House
1420 Locust Street

Tickets $25.00 per person available from The American Institute of Architects Philadelphia Chapter 117 South 17th Street 569-3186

Music by Cimus (chamber music) Howard Lano (ballroom) Johnny's Dance Band (rock) and other musical surprises

Catered by The Frog Restaurant

Black tie optional.

